

Space and Satellite Insurance

While satellite insurance has been around since 1965, it has only been recently that the need has exploded. Synapse Aerospace understand the complex needs of the space industry. Synapse offers a full range of specialized insurance coverages for all aspects of space and satellite companies.

KEY FEATURES

Coverage is unique, modular, easy to understand and scalable, allowing insureds to choose from any of the following for satellites or launch vehicles:

Transit - Coverage for the space object while being transported.

Storage - Coverage while space object is in storage.

Prelaunch - Provides coverage during the prelaunch phase from the manufacturer, during the transit to the launch site, through testing, fueling and integration with the rocket launcher.

Launch - Covers the launch, orbit raising, in-orbit testing, commissioning into service and in-orbit operations for the remainder of the year.

In Orbit - Provides coverage due to a failure during the operational phase.

Third Party Liability - Covers the insureds legal liabilities to a third party for bodily injury or property damage, when the space object is on the ground, during launch or in orbit.
