Energy Industry

Specialty Insurance

Whether your operation is focused on exploration, extraction, pipeline distribution, contracting, processing, marketing, or fuel transport to end markets - oil and gas companies face unique, wide-ranging risks. This is also true whether you operate at a single site or have diverse facilities and operations nationwide. Synapse's energy specialists have the expertise and experience to understand, navigate, and mitigate the range of complex, fast-changing, and highly specific risks facing companies in this sector.
